TRADE AND TROOPS

THE SUBJECTS OF DISCUSSION

Board of Trade Urge Upon Federal Cabinet Ministers Matters of Importance to the City and District

Sir Frederick Borden, Minister of Militia and Hon. Frank Oliver were waited on at the city council chamber this morning by the board of trade and were addressed on the subjects of establishing a permanent military and volunteer corps and also on the question of Oriental trade. President A. B. Campbell of the board of trade was in the chair and called on Mayor McKenzie, who welcomed Sir Frederick Borden and party and outlined the subjects that would be discussed and claimed consideration for them on the plea that Edmonton is the gateway of the great north country, will be a great railway centre and the largest city in Canada, west of Winnipeg.

Ald. Griesbach and J. B. Mercer were called on and said that delegations from Fort Saskatchewan and Strathcona would be present at 11 o'clock and they would postpone the discussion of military affairs until their arrival.

Mr. J. A. McDougall spoke on the trade question showing that Edmonton agricultural products were not able to successfully compete in the eastern markets owing to the freight rate to Fort William. The hope of Alberta was in the Orient and owing to the boycott of American goods in China this was a most opportune moment to secure the market. The Hudson Bay railway was looked for with longing eyes and would be a great boon to this country.

Mr. Borden when called on was given a hearty reception. He expressed himself as delighted with the Western country, the home of the Hon. F. Oliver, who had always worked in season and out of season for his home country and was given the hearty respect of his colleagues at Ottawa. This was his first visit west of London, Ont., and he would say of the west that the truth has not half been told. It was a revelation. The certainties of development in this country was established. He had listened to the addresses with pleasure. He came here with General Lake to see the country and see what should be done in the way of organizing militia in the new provinces and to consider other matters of greater importance, as the trade of the country. He promised that the matters before them would be fully considered. It seemed reasonable that since the new provinces had been organized the army, which will be withdrawn and the western system adopted, having in view the different conditions which exist.

Hon. F. Oliver declined to take up time talking when there was business to be done. He had advocated the claims of this country and time would show they were justified as well as "a better than any other country." Edmonton district had always done its duty to Canada and the Empire at large, as witnesses the answers to the call to arms for the South Africa war. Edmonton district sent more men than some entire provinces, although they were not given an opportunity of enlisting in the late contingent on the Strathcona Horse. The military feeling in the Edmonton district was one of the most promising features of the national war.

Ald. Griesbach thought we could support a squadron of cavalry and one or two companies of infantry.

Mr. Jamieson, of Strathcona, thought that the Edmonton district could support a squadron of cavalry. If it were thought that Strathcona could not support it alone, he would send twenty rifles away might support a company, as there are a large number of veterans in the district.

H. E. Daniel, of Fort Saskatchewan, said there was already a company there now and nearly all on their own horses. The Fort would also like a good rifle range, as the C. N. R. has cut up the R. N. W. M. P. range. They would in any case like to get a troop. They could have about a hundred men within ten miles who would supply their own horses.

Hon. F. Oliver explained that West-askin, Lacombe and other parts would doubtless get up troops, but time had not been allowed to get in touch with them.

Mr. Reid explained that the Edmonton Rifle Association had been organized in 1902 and was very strong, but the Great estate were

"Shaughnessy made the west," is the slogan of Alberta Conservatives.

DIXON FOR MAPLE CREEK. John Dixon, rancher, was nominated by Maple Creek Liberals.

HOT MEETING AT DIDSBURY.

There was a very interesting political meeting at Didsbury Tuesday night. R. B. Bennett was present. Mr. Herbert, the Conservative candidate for Didsbury was the first speaker. He was followed by Joseph Reid, of Kansas, the second Conservative for the riding, who delivered a very vigorous address. Dr. Clark, the Liberal candidate, followed, and Mr. Bennett closed the meeting. There was much excitement at the meeting.

"BOB" MAY BE A CANDIDATE. (Albertan)

There is a movement among some of the organizers of the federal party in this city to try to get R. C. Edwards out as an independent candidate for Calgary. Though Mr. Edwards is not a member of any organized labor union, it is pointed out that he is an independent and has always expressed the utmost sympathy for the labor cause. The convention to select a labor candidate has been called for October 9. Other names mentioned in connection with the nomination are Ald. Brocklebank, Messrs. McIntosh and Scruton, the president of the Trades and Labor Council.

Trade and Troops

The range formerly was, has been cut up. The range is now across the river and is not very satisfactory, as it only allows for a 600 yard range and is up hill. If a range is given, hundreds of young men would join the association. A range could be secured on the south side of the river, but would be some distance from Edmonton until a high level bridge were built. A shortage of rifles was a great hindrance, there being in some places only one rifle to six or eight men.

Mr. McEwan thought that a military corps would tend to develop the national spirit of the large number of foreigners who are in this district. General Lake said if a military spirit exists in a locality the government will give all assistance. Colonel Evans had suggested Edmonton as a centre for a mounted corps of three or four squadrons, in a report some time ago. He thought we should have infantry as well as cavalry in a military centre. As regards rifle ranges, it was reported that the troops should shoot well and it was important they have ranges. The department had only a certain amount of money and wanted all to set economically. He would visit the prospective range sites this afternoon. He thought the opportunity time to secure a range before the city grows larger. He apprehended no difficulty in getting quarters to store arms until armories could be procured. He thought it would not be long until steps would be taken to form squadrons here.

Ald. Griesbach said he would like to have an opportunity made where by the officers of the prospective corps could qualify at home, without going to Winnipeg. General Lake in reply, said that the Government were all to this difficulty and would like to overcome it.

Sir Frederick Borden said in regard to rifles they were short of them, but the new army and Quins are supplying an excellent rifle and with patience the rifles will probably be supplied before another year goes round. The trip would be beneficial to all, as General Lake and he had had their eyes opened to the real situation and they fully consider the claims of the district.

At the conclusion of the meeting Hon. F. Oliver presented a delegation from the Edmonton volunteers who were enrolled at the time of the Reil rebellion. Owing to a legal quibble, the fact of the rifles being down, the necessary authority to legally enroll this corps was not given and on this score the veterans were not granted their script and medals as the other volunteers were.

BANQUET TO MR. BORDEN

Sir Frederick Borden will be tendered an informal banquet at Cronn's cafe this evening by the city and district and the council of the board of trade.

POLITICAL RIOTS

ENLIVEN AUSTRIAN POLITICS

Socialists and Coalitionists Engage in a Melee in Budapest—Police also Take a Hand.

Budapest, Sept. 27.—Between 40 and 50 persons were injured in riots here tonight when the socialists and adherents of the coalition party, including a body of students, clashed opposite the Hotel Royal and for two hours there were scenes of wild and tremendous excitement. The Hotel is the headquarters of the Independence Club in which is the council room of the coalition leaders. The students and others had arranged for a gigantic torch light procession tonight, but during the day the Socialists issued an inflammatory proclamation calling on all socialists and others opposed to the coalition, to gather and fight for their rights, which they said the coalition was trying to sidetrack under cover of an alleged affront by the King-Emperor to the whole nation. Owing to these proclamations, the coalition leaders decided to postpone the torchlight procession, seeking thus to avoid bloodshed. At 8 p.m. about 1500 Socialists gathered outside the Independence Club, and announced their intention to tear down the coquill rooms. A large force of police were present and were assisted by 150 leading citizens. The mob made an effort to enter, but was vigorously opposed by the police. A fight ensued, and amid the wildest clamor, several persons were stabbed, but the Socialists were finally scattered. There were two other engagements, the second being dispersed by a thunder storm. Revolutionary cries are still frequently heard on the streets.

BUFFALO BUILDING COLLAPSES. Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 27.—With a crash that could be heard for blocks, a three-story brick building under course of construction on West Ferry street, collapsed this afternoon, carrying down with it, thirty brick layers and carpenters who were at work in and on top of the structure. A score of the men were injured, eight of them seriously. Six of the injured were taken to hospitals and two were removed to their homes in ambulances. The other workmen sustained cuts and bruises, but were able to go to their homes. The building was owned by J. J. Crowley, of 310 West Ferry street.

Morris and Allen had the contract for the masonry, and their men were working on the third story today when the west wall went down, carrying with it a portion of the front of the building and a portion of the rear wall. That there was no serious loss of life was due to the fact that there was no roof on the building and the mass of bricks fell outward toward the street, the men being buried in the timbers of the interior.

"COMPANIONS IN ARMS."

Evidence, if such were necessary, is rapidly accumulating, that the alliance between the Alberta Conservative party and the Canadian Pacific Railway Company, is not a mythical creation of Liberals, nor an incidental affiliation in the personality of the Conservative Provincial leader, nor merely a sympathetic association of strict and trusted friends of bygone days, but a vital union established on the basis of "Quid Pro Quo," for the accomplishment of very material results. When the solicitor of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company deemed it "advisable to accept the leadership" of Alberta Conservatives, the Bulletin took the liberty of pointing out the mutual benefits to the parties concerned, and argued that as the need of Alberta Conservatives was met by the prospective desires and needs of this powerful corporation the selection of Mr. Bennett was in all probability a matter of deliberate selection and not of coincidence or chance. Since that time the movement of matters political has at least done nothing to invalidate this opinion, while the Liberal press of Saskatchewan has found reason to believe in the existence of a similar combination in that Province. We are able now however to present very conclusive evidence in support of this contention, not from the circumstances of the hour, nor from a view of the prospective requirements of the Conservative party and the Canadian Pacific Railway Company, nor from the Liberal press of Saskatchewan, but from the Calgary Herald, which poses and is generally regarded as the chief organ of both the Conservative party and the Canadian Pacific Railway Company in this Province. Coming from this source the evidence has authority quite different from that afforded by the utterances of opponents of both these parties. In the issue of Saturday last the Herald devoted two columns of its front page to a "double headed" article, presumably wired from Winnipeg on the preceding day, but which reads strangely like the pipe dream of a "space filler" writing for the good of the common cause in an upper chamber of the Herald block. The heading of the Herald article is worth reproducing. Here it is: DUPLICITY OF G. T. P. PROMOTERS HAS HURT MANY WESTERN TOWNS AND THREATENS A LARGE TERRITORY.

Interesting Analysis of the Situation Developed by the Paralleling of the C.P.R. with Public Money.

The story begins with an unproven assertion that Senator Cox originated the Grand Trunk Pacific plan in order that he might

"unload the Canadian Northern on the Grand Trunk Pacific and relieve himself of the great responsibility that rested upon him."

More detailed explanation of the Senator's alleged project we are not given, for the "despatch" plunges in to an eulogy of Messrs. McKendzie & Mann, which may or may not be deserved, but which reads with unusual interest in an article devoted to the denunciation of railway competition.

"If there was anyone more than another deserving of assistance it was Mackenzie & Mann. Their great project was entirely the product of their own enterprise. They embarked in it with the full confidence that they could carry it through. They had built the Dauphin line, opening new territory to settlement, they had secured of the Northern Pacific trackage in Manitoba, they had constructed a new line from Winnipeg to Port Arthur, again opening new country, and they gave evidence of energy and industry of which great things would have come if they had been assisted as they should have been."

What does this gratuitous and irrelevant reference to Mackenzie & Mann import? Conservative inconsistency, of course,—but perhaps also vasty more.

The overwhelming approval of the west of the Grand Trunk Pacific project is a subject of sore disappointment to this astute manufacturer of Herald "despatches." He laments:

"Every constituency through which it was projected rushed to its support and to the support of the Government that favored it. The Conservatives in the house opposed stoutly, and with just cause, not the spirit of the bill, but the unjust and indefensible provisions of it, just as the Liberal leaders of another generation had opposed the Canadian Pacific Railway bill. With this difference, the Liberal leaders of that time, particularly Hon. Edward Blake, consumed by virulent hatred of the Macdonald government, allowed their hatred to over-run their judgment, and in criticizing their enemies, to belittle and defame the west, contending that to even propose a railway into that wilderness was an absurdity. Yet some of the men who spoke in this manner were among those who were loudest in their advocacy of the Grand Trunk Pacific bill, a measure which compared with the Canadian Pacific concessions, was and is an outrageous swindle."

This picture of Conservative M.P.'s moderating their criticism of the G. T. P. bill through fear of damaging the reputation of the West would be amusing if it had enough foundation in fact. The debates on the bill are two recent for the people of the West to have forgotten that whatever Conservative members may not have said in condemnation of the territory which the line is to traverse remained unsaid only because the denunciatory vocabulary of those gentlemen ran dry. That the Liberal members had learned since the construction of the G. T. P. R. something of the capabilities of the West, while their opponents had not done so, is construed as an argument against the honesty of the Liberal members. If criticism is due the men who have depreciated the West, it is surely due those who did so in 1904, more than to those who did so in 1880.

Mr. Borden and public ownership are then dealt with in this reproving manner: "The opposition in the House made a fair attack upon the measure, and that assault might have had important results but that in the eleventh hour Mr. Borden adopted the public ownership and spoke from that standpoint. The theory of public ownership has many friends and commends itself to public favor, but it was premature to apply it to the Grand Trunk Pacific scheme, as it widened the scope of the argument, carrying it far afield and obscuring the view of the real matter in hand. The Government took the ground that the Conservatives were opposed to a work of real utility, that they wished to deprive the West of its just due, that they had no concern in opening new country, and boldly charged them with intent to kill the proposal altogether in the interest of the Canadian Pacific Railway."

The "despatch" then gets down to real business and, discarding apology and circumlocution, proudly declares that:

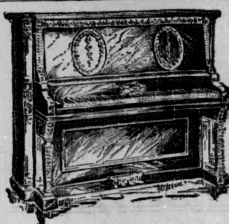

"It is true that the Conservative party have pride in the great transcontinental line because they built it, and the condition of affairs in the west today more than justifies their wise policy. They had to fight bitterly for it in the House of Commons and in the country, and the completion of it crowned the mission of the grandly patriotic life, that of the founder of the party, whose memory will never fade."

"But while they defend the Canadian Pacific because their opponents attack it, it was not their intention to deprive the west of railway facilities. It is not to be believed that they would make the bargain with the Grand Trunk promoters that the Laurier Government made."

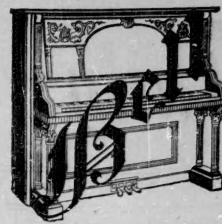

"They would have given a helping hand to Mackenzie & Mann."

"Take out your railway map and find Portage la Prairie. It will be seen that west of this point there is a perfect network of railway lines. The country is fairly gridironed with them. Here the Grand Trunk Pacific, the line that is to open new country, that is not to be nearer than thirty miles to any existing railway, begins its western system. The grading for more than two hundred miles westward is now under contract. Starting at MacGregor the new line that is to open new country is projected about six miles from the main line of the Canadian Pacific railway. To the north about four miles, is the Brookdale branch of the C.P.R. At Forrest it crosses the Rapid City spur of the C. P. R. Beyond this point the railway that is to be never less than thirty miles away from existing lines and was to open new country, has the Lenore branch of the C. P. R. to the south about two miles for the greater part of its distance, forty-one miles, and the Minota branch about six miles to the north for about fifty miles, crossing this branch at Crandall.

Then this railway that was to open new country proceeds in a direction north of west for about one hundred and fifty miles, having the Pheasant Hills branch of the C. P. R. from twelve to fourteen miles to the south, and the northwestern Division of the C. P. R. eight to twelve miles to the north. From Portage to MacGregor the projected line is immediately alongside the main line of the C. P. R.

"The proposed line does not open new country, nor does it respect the territory of any other railway as he said it would. The existing lines that it parallels were built for the purpose of opening new country and they serve it very well, and the presence of the projected line suggests that it goes there to get business already created, so that public money is being used to enable a private corporation to compete with another line that was built with the public money largely, to the impairment of both.

"This line, if built as proposed, must prove detrimental to the towns that are located along the C. P. R. branches. The Grand Trunk will, as a matter of course, have townships at intervals along its line. It will do its utmost to build up its town by drawing business and population from the present towns. Over sixty towns and villages, all prosperous now and building on the prospective prosperity of ever widening production, will be affected by this wholly unnecessary line as at present projected. But says the quid aune, it will furnish competition. In the abstract railway competition is a beautiful thing and many have lost time fighting for it, only to find in the concrete it has its disappointments.

"What is a difference of a few cents in the hundred in freight to the residents and business men of sixty towns and villages if the price they pay is depression in property values and division of their trade with the shack settlements that will arise along the Grand Trunk Pacific.

"Energy and forethought built the towns along the C.P.R. branches and the C.P.R. was a powerful factor in making that building successful. Why should this railway, pledged to opening new country and not to come nearer than thirty miles of existing lines, be permitted to come in and nullify progressive enterprise in this way, and what will they think in the east and in England where many thousands have their means invested in Canadian Pacific securities, at this strange perversion of this project on Sir Wilfrid's part?"

The attack upon the Grand Trunk Pacific is based on the ground that the present location of the new line in the vicinity of Portage la Prairie promises to make it a quite effective competitor to the Canadian Pacific Railway. As a primary purpose of the projection of the Grand Trunk Pacific was to secure to the west an effective competitor to the Canadian Pacific railway, the assault of this belated and outspoken defender of the monopolistic corporation is not likely to appeal the people of the West with the dread consequences of railway competition. His pathetic plea that the territory which has so long been considered the special and exclusive preserve of the Canadian Pacific Railway company be protected from the ruinous effect of railway competition would carry more weight if it came from a better source. The economic conditions of Manitoba may very well be left in the hands of the men who have helped shape those conditions and who are quite as capable and should be quite as willing to protect their vested interests as the Conservative press of the distant province of Alberta.

The statements of the article however are of much less consequence than its complexion, and the significance of its complexion is heightened by the nature and occasion of its publication. Coming on the heels of the selection of the C. P. R. solicitor as Provincial Conservative leader, this "dispatch," appearing in the leading Conservative organ of the province, indicates that the alliance which is prefigured in the dual-office of Mr. Bennett is more than a nominal passive affiliation. The article has every appearance of being the first blow struck by Alberta Conservatism as an organized body in the cause of the C. P. R. monopoly and against the cause of effective and complete railway competition. As such it may be supposed to constitute the first instalment of the subsidy of service which Alberta Conservatism will pay for the loan endeavors of Mr. Bennett and for the active endeavors of the Canadian Pacific Railway company to secure the election of its solicitor and his friends.

The Balance Wheel

Look inside your watch a moment. The balance wheel is making 18,000 vibrations an hour. If it is in good condition, it will move 3,500 miles in a year and requires less than one tenth of a drop of oil to make it run. But it needs that little bit of oil. Don't take chances. Let me clean and oil and put your watch in order for a year. It will pay you and satisfy you.

WRECK OFF THE COAST.

Victoria, Sept. 27.—Captain Sprague of the British ship Leister Castle, from Acapulco, in ballast, reported today when informed of the sighting of a raft off Bandon, Oregon on Wednesday last with five persons on it, that when off the entrance to the straits of San Juan de Fuca that night he and his crew heard a horn blowing at intervals for over an hour. He was unable to make out the location. He did not think it was a shore fog horn. It seemed more like a distress signal. Off the entrance to the straits he sighted two spars which did not appear to have been long in the water.

Captain Crosby, former master of the Leister Castle, died of fever at Acapulco and Capt. Sprague, first mate, took command. Capt. Oliver is here from England to take charge of the vessel. The Leister Castle is the vessel upon which three men mutilated, when near the Pitcairn Islands some years ago, and shot and killed the second mate and wounded Captain Beattie.

THE LAW MUST TAKE ITS COURSE

Sheriff Robertson yesterday received a telegram from the acting under Secretary of state, informing him that the law must take its course in the case of Chas King, now under sentence of death at Fort Saskatchewan. The execution of King will accordingly take place on Saturday of this week at the barracks at Fort Saskatchewan.

MR. ROGER'S CONFESSIONS
(Toronto Globe)

Hon. Robert Rogers admits The Globe's statement that the Manitoba Government has accorded greater privileges and concessions to the Roman Catholic minority of that province than have been granted by the autonomy bills to the new provinces. This is his own way of putting it:— "It (The Globe) is generous enough to credit me, as a member of the Government of Manitoba, with being very generous in treating with the Roman Catholic minority in the province, and let me say right here that I acknowledge the correctness of this statement, and far be it from me to ever be a party to anything other than a policy of absolute fairness and generosity." Yet this is the gentleman who wants to set his province by the ears with the old antipathy to the "hierarchy" as his war cry. He goes on to say:—"In the matter of Sir Wilfrid's action, we are simply fighting for our liberty and Manitoba's rights, and this course will be followed to the end." Sir Wilfrid has taken no action which affects Manitoba's liberty or rights. The Prime Minister recognized on the floor of Parliament that Manitoba was entitled to a share in the division of Kewatin. Nothing has been said or done to show that there has been any change of mind in this respect, and yet we find Mr. Rogers endeavoring to deceive the unthinking by posing as the protector of Manitoba's threatened "rights and liberties." When in the natural course of events the province gets its due Mr. Rogers will assume a statesmanlike look and say, "I done it." This is playing the cheap demagogue, and playing it very badly.

MILITARY MATTERS

Calgary, Sept. 28.—A few of the citizens of Calgary entertained Sir Frederick Borden and party, consisting of General Lake and the Chief Justice of Nova Scotia, at luncheon at the Alberta club yesterday afternoon. Mayor Emerson presided at the banquet, and after the banquet was over a couple of toasts were drunk.

Sir Frederick Borden was the first to respond to the toast. He was received with enthusiasm. After preliminaries he referred to the policy of the department of militia, which was not the introduction of militarism. On the contrary, it was the formation of a citizen's military organization, sufficient to maintain law and order in the Dominion.

We have a great country to defend. He proceeded to speak of the revolution in his of the West. Before this trip he had been no further west in Canada than London. He was surprised at what he had seen. He was of the opinion that no man should be eligible for a cabinet position who had not passed through Canada from one end of it to the other. He said that he had heard the stories that Mr. McCarthy and some other members of parliament from the west had been telling of the wonders of the West, but had believed that they were somewhat visionary. But he knew now that if they had made any mistake they had not done justice to the wonderful possibilities of the country. He referred to the scenery of the West, surpassing that of the Alps or the Sierra Nevada, to the wonderful wheat country, with its possibilities, or probabilities. He believed that Canada could supply the British Isles with wheat, and have millions more left for our hungry neighbors to the south.

In referring again to the military policy of the department of militia he referred to the fact that the militia was not for war or for foreign invasion, but to maintain the supremacy of the civil power. Incidentally they might hope, in case any nation saw our good things and was desirous of seizing them by force, to have sufficient organization to keep them back until assistance should arrive from the mother country.

He paid special attention to the policy of training the school children in the school, to encourage the youth to study the art of deportment, of self-defence, and from this they would profit both physically and morally. He believed that physical training in schools was as necessary as training in arithmetic, Latin or Greek.

He had conferred with the different ministers of Education on this matter of having training in the schools and found that all were desirous of co-operating with the Dominion authorities. He intended to have a conference at Ottawa in the near future and take this subject into consideration.

GRADING THE G. T. P.

Catberry, Sept. 21.—The G. T. P. construction is being energetically pushed forward across this district. Altogether about two hundred and fifty teams are at work and six separate camps are stretched across the municipality of North Cypress. McDonald, Millan & Co. the original contractors have three camps located west of Pine Creek, at a point about sixteen miles northwest of here. The country is very hilly at that point, and there are two miles of exceptionally heavy work. The contractors are doing this heavy work with their own outfit, and are sub-letting the prairie grading. Immediately west of the muskeg the fill is 71 feet, and the muskeg itself is seven-eighths of a mile long. The creek will be spanned by a steel bridge 60 feet long, but across the balance of the distance a pile bridge will be built and later filled in by construction train. This portion of the road is said to be one of the heaviest pieces of railroad work in Manitoba.

JAPANESE OCCUPY KOMMANDER ISLANDS

St. Petersburg, Sept. 26.—News has been received here that the American steamer Montara, having on board Baron Broggen, manager of the Kamchatka Trading society, was seized by Japanese near Nikolavievsk Behring Islands, and that the Japanese afterwards occupied the Kommander Islands and hoisted the Japanese flag. Neither the date of the seizure of the vessel nor that of the occupation of the islands is given. The seizure of the Montara has already been chronicled, but there has been the mention of any occupation of the Kommander Islands. Rear Admiral Kataoka reported to the Imperial navy department on Aug. 26 as follows: "The division despatched to Kamchatka captured a number of Russians on board the American steamer Montara, of the port of Nikolavievsk, among them Commander Eskey."

Mr. Grimsom, the minister at Tokio, on Sept. 4 notified the state department of the capture of the vessel, giving Nikolavievsk as the place and Aug. 16 as the date. The vessel, the minister said was taken to Yokosuka naval station and the case brought before the prize court at Yokohama, which had not rendered a decision at the time the report was filed. The Montara was engaged in carrying provisions from one point to another along the Siberian coast. Early in the war the Governments of Great Britain and the United States entered into an agreement to protect the seals in the Kommander Islands until the termination of the hostilities. The Russian Government consented to this arrangement.

—E. W. Thompson, special commis- sioner of the Royal Transcript and P. Mohr, assistant immigration agent, went east this morning to visit the Galician settle- ments. Mr. Thompson will thor- oughly investigate the conditions, manner of life and financial stand- ing of these people.

—J. J. Rouse begins tonight a series of lectures in the hall over the employment office, four doors east of the post office. Subjects taken up, "Can a soul be lost after once being saved," "The Sabbath," "The Lord's Day." Meetings are free and begin at 7.45.

—C. Sharpe of Winnipeg, is in town in connection with the contract ac- cused by May, Sharpe & Co. for the erection of the piers for the C. N. R. bridge at the fort. Mr. Sharpe is chairman of the parks committee of Winnipeg and considers the time ripe for the Edmonton council to se- cure sites for parks before the price of property advances too greatly. He is greatly pleased with the appear- ance of the city and has great expec- tations for it.

—A meeting of the directors of the Edmonton C. P. Co. Ltd. was held in the city yesterday. Mr. Williams, the manager of the mill, reported that the oil was bad because so much of the oil had been soiled at the first level as to make the oil of drifting excessive. He advised that operations be suspended until arrangements for heavier casing. The directors have been more than satis- fied with the report and confirm the directors in the belief that oil is but a short distance below the present depth of their well. It is hoped their expectations will be fully real- ized, as the city and the district generally will feel the immense bene- fits resulting from the development of such an important industry.
